

ONE, TWO, THREE, MONTHS RESIDENCY

ONE, TWO, THREE MONTHS PROGRAM

After an initial period of observation evaluation and tests program and after have completed the period of one week of evaluation training program and reaches the necessary Improvement, our Coaching Staff prepares a detailed evaluation report on the quality of each young player. At this point, the Technical Director of the Italian Soccer club in which the player was evaluated establish whether and if so when a player is fully ready to go to our next step which is 3 months of residency Program. If those young players who participate in our residency programs demonstrate excellent skills (based on our evaluations), we will organize a try-out with a professional club immediately. The other students will continue with the training program to reach the technical and tactical level needed to participate in the tryouts with professional clubs. Of course we will choose the level of the professional club (Series A, B, Lega Pro) based on the quality and the level achieved by our players, so as to be able to compare equally with the quality of the other players of the club. Each player is free to choose the length of stay: One, Two or Three months. This modified program is a great and interesting opportunity to learn soccer and especially to experience, in a new reality, the player's technical and tactical ability needed to play. Naturally this particular program is intensive; there are 5 weekly training sessions both individual and collective.

The objectives of this choice are to:

- Learn what Italian coaches want and demands;
- Learning to play with greater intensity and higher rhythm;
- Learn to play under pressure;
- Know the methodologies of Italian trainers;
- Know the uses and dynamics of Italian clubs;
- Learn or at least understand the Italian language;
- Understand the way of Italian living.

We are convinced that this "training period" will enable to understand if a footballer/player is prepared to enter a football/soccer route in Italy.

If the footballer/player have the capacity to adapt to a totally different way of living and if the footballer/player has a very strong motivation to face this experience he will then succeed to the next level of possible becoming pro-footballer/player.
